Well, the Hammarlunds used a plastic dial, not too much larger than a CD, and the squashed washer edge driver. It might be that this would work better than the humorists amongst us would let out. Years ago, I made up a white plastic edge driven vernier dial out of something (can't remember what right off but it was some test meter dial of some kind). It looked fairly good on a cheap tin box regen receiver at the time.

Here is a thought. Would a cd rubber cemented to the back of a large knob work as a dial of some sort. Hmmm, another one to try. Let's see, where did I put the unsolicited mail CD from one of the on-line services.....

Well, with tongue in cheek, tin cans atop the noggin, an' all the bits o' concentration I could muster, I made great gasping geezerness, or attempts at something resembling Morsum Codum withe the ol' Kootie Key, last night. A few fellers showed up on 40 and 80, and did not shriek too much in horror at the QLF.....(:+}}..... Man, dat Kootie Key takes a bit o' fanciful dittlin' to make it play (or mebbe dis ol' pfarte needs a tad more practice at de dittlin').

Did qso wid W5TVW, KC5EZP on 7050R5 and wid WS4S and WA2NHZ on 3579R545. Things went dead after 0300. Bad storms were about locally.

Several fellers have requested that the 80M folks meet at 0200 (guess the ol' pfartes amongst us need their geritol rest and turn in early). Nuttin' wrong with dat, an' perhaps it will allow me to get in the horizontal mode by 0400UTZ.....(:+}}.....

So, let us try the following tonight, and see what happens.....

QTR 0000/0100 UTC QRG 7050R5 KHZ
QTR 0200/0300/0400 UTC QRG 3579R545 KHZ

I did not hear any other Kootie Keys on last night, so I still challenges ye to a Kootie Key Fist Function all this week! So, dusts ye off yer fine bottleburners, an sparkenspitzen on de ol' BA/GB ``net''.

again my friend has come up with yet another item.
A Golden Eagle D-0104 serial # 02778
this is not the plastic imitation, it is an original.
he asking $150 + shipping.....

I have 8 rooms reserved for Friday and Saturday night of the Dayton hamfest in Franklin, OH (exit 32 at I-75). Thanks to changing plans by a number of local regulars, about 5 or 6 of these will be surplus to my needs. I have been asked to give up any surplus rooms by this Friday (05/03/96), so before I do this I thought I would give the Boatanchor Group a chance to grab them. If any of you would like to go to Dayton but have been unable to find a room, now is your chance. I'll post this on Glowbugs too for anyone there.

Franklin is about a 20 to 30 minute drive to the hamfest but our local group has always found this location convenient - especially if you want to visit Cincinatti for dinner Friday night (Montgomery Inn ribs are mighty good!). The Grey Museum of Wireless in Cincinatti is well worth visiting too. I wrote about this last year.

If you want one or more of these rooms, please send me email as quickly as possible - I would hate to give them up only to have an Anchorite needing a room. These are at a Comfort Inn and are two beds per room. I have asked for non-smoking rooms but I am sure this can be changed.

Do we have any special Friday night Boatanchor events planned this year?
